GRAND CIRCUIT SCHEDULE FOR '06

Racing Season Opens in Detroit on July 23-Closes in Cincinnati.

Memphis and Cleveland Are Shut Out By Anti-Pool-Selling Laws.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The schedule of the Grand Circuit trotting season of 1995 was announced at a meeting in this city of the stewards of the Grand Circuit. The racing season will open at Detroit ith a two-weeks' meeting, beginning after meetings of one week as follows: Buffalo, August 5 to 11; Poughkeepsie August 13 to 18; Readville (Boston), Au-

August 12 to 18; Readville (Boston), August 20 to 25; Providence, August 27 to September 1; Hartford, September 3 to 8; Syracuse, September 10 to 15; Columbus, September 17 to 22, and Cincinnati, September 24 to 29.

Memphis, Cleveland and Empire City track, New York, which are members of the Grand Circuit, did not apply for dates this year. Anti-pool-selling laws prevent meets in Memphis and Cleveland.

A committee was appointed to consider plans of racing in general, and this committee will report to the stewards. It is composed of Messrs. Jewett, Settle and Moone.

The stewards will meet again Monday.

The stewards will meet again Monday, when it is expected the presiding judge and starter for the season will be announced.

PINEHURST, N. C., January 10.—One of the most novel and unique matches in the history of golf, an 13 hole contest by moonlight, was played here last night, between the professionals, Donald Ross, of the local club and Jack Jolly, of New York, Ross winning five up and four to play, and with a medal play score of $8 to $3. Nearly two hundred people followed the contest which lasted over two hours. The match was in regular form and no exception was made to daylight rules, except that four caddles were used, two being stationed on either side of the course, in order that they might hear the balls drop on the long shots and locate them without delay. Not a ball was lost, and the professionals were in their usual form, except that they were driving shorter to insure perfect direction.

SSS OUR RECORD

With medicines as with other things, the surest test of worth is the length of time they have the confidence of the people. The efficacy of S. S. has been thoroughly proven by experience, and so successful has it been that today it is the best known and most widely used blood remedy in the world. For diseases such as Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, and other troubles due to an impure and poisoned condition of the blood, no remedy acts so promptly and thoroughly as does S. S. S., and thousands throughout the country, cured of such diseases, are daily recommending it to others similarly afflicted. ITS FORTY YEARS OF EXISTENCE HAVE BEEN FORTY YEARS OF CURES. S. S. S. is a blood purifier of the highest order, containing properties necessary to cure blood troubles of every character, and which make it the greatest of all tonics. It goes into the blood and drives out any and all impurities, and makes this stream of life strong and healthy, and when this is donedisease cannot remain. Being made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, chosen for their healing, purifying and building-up properties, it does not injure any of the delicate organs or tissues of the body as do those medicines which contain Potash, Mercury, Arsenic or other harmful minerals, but cures safely as well as permanently. S. S. S. reaches deep-seated and inherited cases on which the ordinary Sarsaparillas and tonics have no effect. It is no experiment to use S. S. S.; it is a remedy with a record; it has proven its worth and ability by its forty years of cures. If you need a blood remedy begin the use of S. S. S.; write us about your case and let our physicians advise you and send book on the blood; no charge for either.

After considerable further fencing between Germany and France, those two powers, on July $, 190, agreed on the basis of a programme for the proposed in ternational conference, and without entering into details of the reforms proposed, it may be said that the main and most dangerous point to be discussed at the conference is the question, whether France is or not entitled to have special and privileged position in Morocco. This is the vital issue and the minor questions, it has been pointed out, can be adjusted, once this point is definitely settled. Germany, it is understood, will seek to secure international control of the police, the customs and other matters, and an "open door" as to commerce.

Qui December 14, the French Government issued a yellow book setting forth its side of the confroversy, and January $, the German Government published a white book giving its version of the dispute.

WAR SECRETARY DENIES CHARGES

General Fefutation of All of Biglow's Charges of Canal Mismanagement.

Management,

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 10.—An elaborate and comprehensive answer to the charges against the Isthmian Canal Commission contained in an article in "The Independent," has been made by Secretary Taft. It is in the form of a letter to the Bresident, who, on January 6th, in a communication to the Secretary; said his attention had been directed to an article purporting to have been written by Poultney Bigelow, "attacking the administration of affairs by the Canal Commission and yourself on the isthmus," and adding, "Will you please advise me what basis, if any, there is for these charges."

In his reply Secretary Taft first briefly summarizes the charges, as follows:

Alleging that the conditions in Colon are so unsunitary as to create great neglect in providing for the health of the employes of the commission; alleged mistrediment of nexty laborers; that persons appointed to the istumus are incompetent and have been given their places through political influence and official incompetency or resconduct, the latter involving the charge that there is so much "red tape" necessary to bring about the construction of buildings that great misery has come to the laborers on the isthmus.

misery has come to the laborers on the sixhmus.

Discussing conditions at Colon, the Secretary says, owing to higher death rate at Panama, the commission felt justified in establishing a water and sewer system in Panama first. He denies that a large number of canal employes live in Colon, and says provision has been made for an ample water supply.

Secretary Taft declares the rate of wages is well advertised throughout the West Indies at 19 cents gold an hour for a day of eight hours, which may be in-

No Political Influence.

No Political Influence.

As to the charge that officials on the Istimus were appointed through congressional or political influence, the secretary says the chief engineer categorically denies this, "and I am able from standpoint of Washington also categorically to deny it." He says political influence has played no part whatever in the selection of appointees.

Secretary Taft declares that the charge of delay by "red tape" in the construction of buildings on the Isthmus is shown to be untrue by the statement of the chief etgineer.

Quick Conclusion.

Secretary Taft states that the writer t the article containing the charges ar-ved at Panama November 20th and left cessful business career in Massachusetts and Cuba, retired in 1876 at the age of thirty-six, to Irvington-on-the-Hudson, where he owned a summer residence. While he continued more or less active in business matters, holding large interests in railroad, gas, from and other properties, Mr. Bishop devoted more and more time to a pursuit of the artistic reerties, Mr. Hishop devoted more and more time to a pursuit of the artistic researches to which his tastes attracted him. About 1875 he became interested in Chinese and Japanese art, and began an investigation that consumed the remainder of his lifetime. The story of this devoted research is told by Mr. Bishop himself in a preface to his book, quoted below.

By means of great labor and large expenditures of money, Mr. Bishop succeeded in securing a collection of jade objects and other hard stones that had no equal, and, in fact, no rival in the world.

ceeded in securing a collection of jade objects and other hard stones that had no equal, and, in fact, no rival in the world. The collection complete numbered 900 specimens, arranged under the headings of mineralogical, archaeological and art objects. He then began and completed a catalogue, of his collection and an account of his investigations, manifesting a keen desire to prevent the magnificent collection from being scattered and to perpetuate its influence in the world.

With this end in view he presented the entire collections of hard stones other than jade, numbering nearly 200 pieces, together with a replica of the Louis XV. room, their former home in his New York residence, to the Metropolitan Museum of Art for the benefit of public instruction. This princel yaff he supplemented by the issuance of the books which, since his death, are being distributed by his executor.

The edition is limited to 100 copies, each of which cost $1,000, the total cost of the publication being $100,000. The edition will be distributed among the members of the Bishop family, the heads of governments, and the principal libraries and museums having libraries in this countries. Among the individuals who will receive copies are the rince of Wales, the Emperor of Germany, the Czar of Russia, the Queen of Holland, the Emperor of Japan, and the Emperor of China. Five copies will remain in New York.

S. Paterson, of New York, executor of the Bishop estate. Mr. Kennedy replied to this communication yesterday, expressing the appreciation of the State at the gift, and giving the required pledge that the work will be held in perpetuity as the property of the Library of Virginia. He also indicated what steps would be taken to preserve the copy. The books themselves came in the afternoon and were at once unpacked and for the remainder of the day were a source of the profoundest interest to everybody in the building.

Story of Researches.

The account of the researches of the millionaire collector is absorbing in its interest. In the preface Mr. Bishop relates the history of his investingtions, saying in part as follows:

"Between the years 1870 and 1880, I became much interested in Chinese and Japanese art, and soon found the field as wide as the study was fassionating. My interest increased and I extended my researches to metal work (including arms and armor), porcelain, lacquer, carving in wood and and ivory, painting, and, not least, to the beautiful lapidary works of the Chinese in Jade and other hard stones. It is to jade that I wish to confine myself in this book.

"I was fortunate in finding some exceptionally fine objects of jade that had been brought from China to New York and Boston. These included some remarkable objects from the loot of the imperial Summer Palace, near Pekin, in 1890, and thus carried with them a certain historic interest. One piece especially, No. 578, an extraordinary work of art, so intensified my interest in jade and my desire to possess other examples of importance, that I resolved upon a special visit to England and the Continent of Europe, where I knew that most of the beautiful pieces had been taken by members of the returning Anglo-French expedition and others.

I found that some pieces had been carried to Frankfort-on-the-Maine, Amsterdam, Dresden, Berlin and Vienna. At St. Petersburg, Moscow and Constantinopie, I also obtained some beautiful specimens that had come directly from China.
"Having secured all of the finest specimens obtainable in Europe that were suitable for my collection. I went to China, and was fortunate in obtaining there many objects of great interest and of a degree of excellence impossible now to find.

"At first my researches were confined to art objects only, and chiefly to those from China and India. Then my interest turned toward the general subject of jade, both mineralogically and archaeologically, and i added many specimens of crude material and worked pre-historic objects to my ever-increasing cellection. In this connection, I visited Alaska, British Columbia, Oregon, California and Mexco, and again different parts of Europe.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

Central Salesroom Where Business May Be Done in Demand.

ness May Be Done in Demand.

There is a movement on foot to establish a real estate exchange and sales room for Richmond, so that people who huy property at auction may go to one place to do the business instead of having to ride all over town.

Richmond has long needed such an exchange and salesroom, so a number of real estate men declare, but it has been hard to win the people away from the old Virginia custom of buying ground on the ground where they dan see it and determine for themselves the character of the soil, etc. That is all right when one comes to buy a farm, where he is expected to raise many things, but when a man wants only about thirty feet of land on which to "raise" a house, he does not care very specially about the character of the soil. If it is strong enough to hold up a house, it suits him. Of course, location and enviorment and neighborhood cut real figure, but all of these can be shown on map in acentrally located salesroom, just as well as on the ground, and to a majority of would-be bidders, might prove more satisfactory.

A realestate exchange and salesroom, is one of the new enterprises that real estat dealers will expect to show at same time during this good year, 1905.
